Local musicians to play at Christmas at the Museum

Winter officially arrives Monday, although the Lakeshore area has been experiencing winter conditions for a while now. It certainly looks as if Mishicot will have a white Christmas. We have had enough snow for sledding, snowmobiling and shoveling!

Holiday music is a nice way to celebrate the season. Local musicians are featured during the Christmas at the Museum celebration at Mishicot's historical museum. Thanks go to Marie Steeber who finds the musicians and schedules the performances. Following is a list of performers scheduled so far:

■ On Tuesday, Mishicot High School's Soundwave choir will perform at 6 p.m. Jean Hopka and Marie Steeber will follow at 6:45 p.m. Peter Klein will play the piano that same evening beginning at 7:30 p.m.

■ Mike Kornely will perform at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday

■ Dec. 29 has Phillip Jindra performing at 6 p.m. followed by the Holy Cross Adult Choir at 6:45 p.m. and Larry Hlinak at 7:30 p.m.

■ Deb Rohr will perform at 6 p.m. Dec. 30 with the Z Brass Quintet to follow at 6:45 p.m.

■ St. Peter's Handbell Choir will perform beginning at 6:45 p.m. Jan. 8 with the church's adult choir to follow at 7:30 p.m.

■ Jan. 9 has an afternoon performance beginning at 2 p.m. with the Tisch Mills' Holy Name Men's Choir. Sarah Voelker will perform at 6 p.m. that evening.

Check the Mishicot Web site calendar, www.mishicot.org, for an updated listing of performances.
